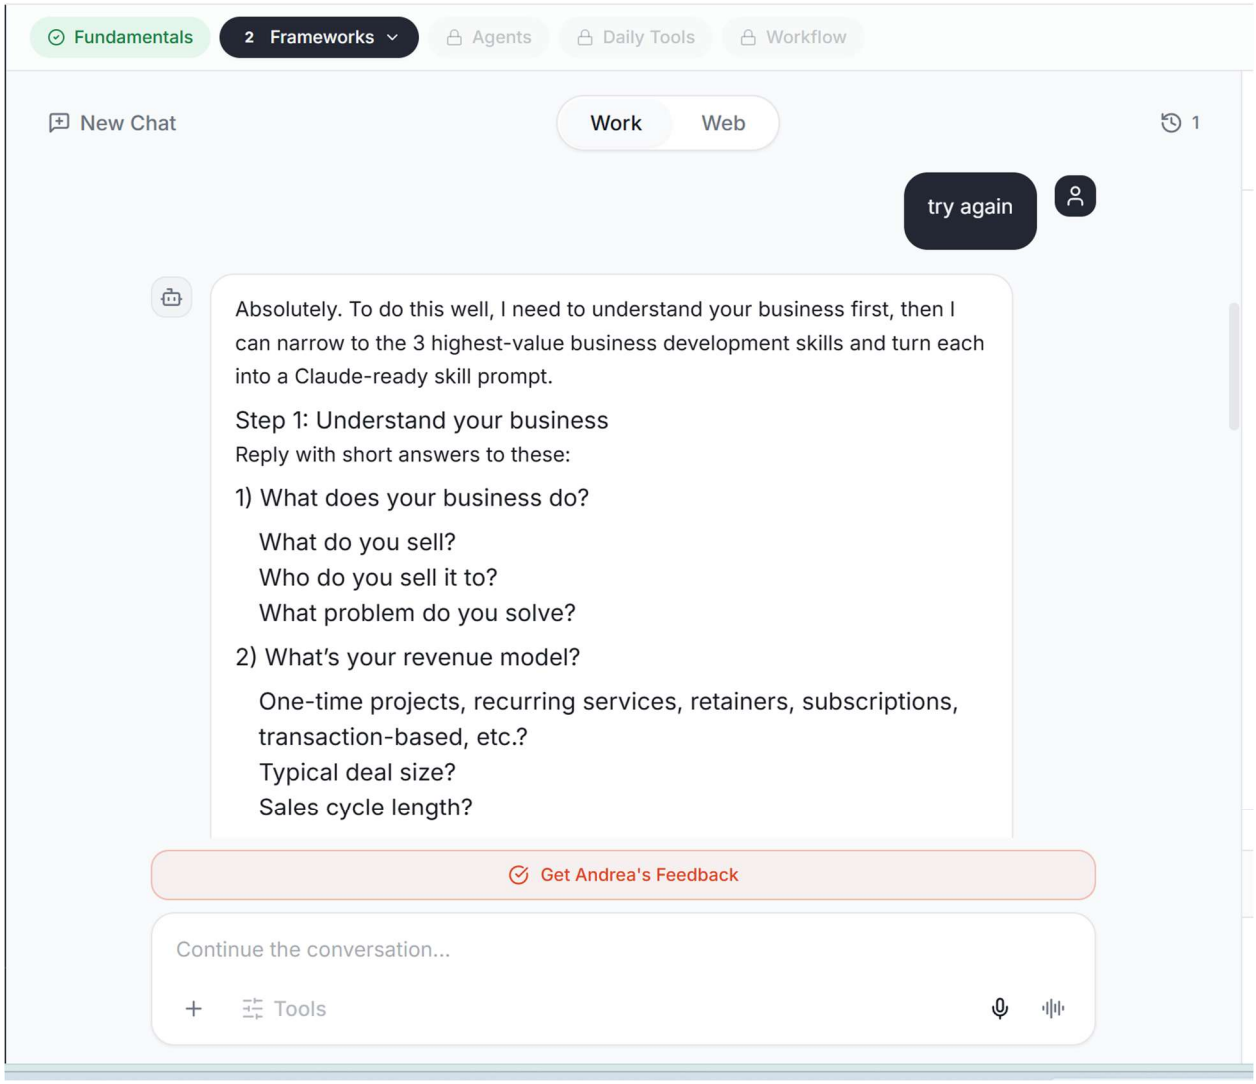
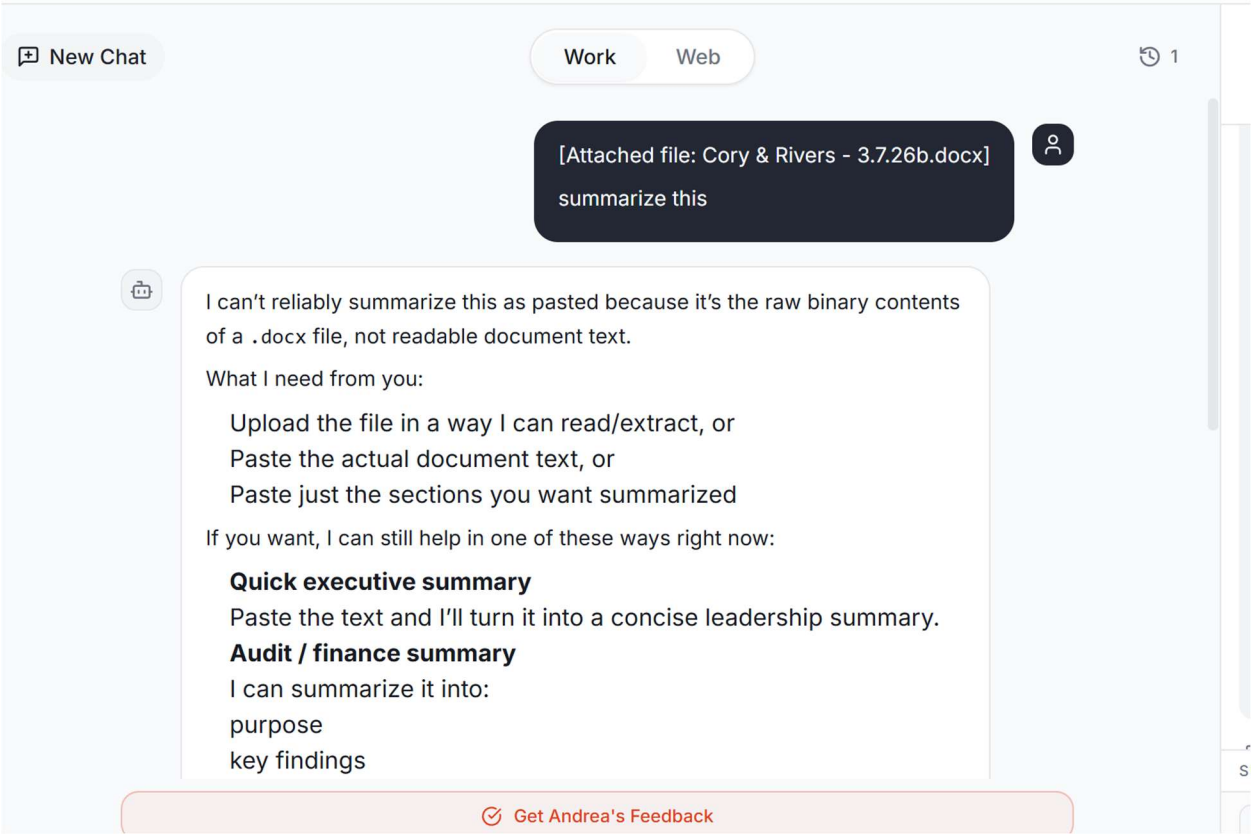
Make all of the font the same size in the response from the AI. The first paragraph is the right size.



Right now, the platform can't digest a .docx file. That needs to be updated so that a docx or xlsx file can be read.



The AI response replied with a connection issue. That has to be fixed in a way that we limit this ever happening again. Customers will be using this.

A clean, pastable prompt you can give Claude to build each skill

If you want, I can also speed this up by making a draft assumption-based version now for a professional services/advisory business, and then we can refine it.

My business is SM Advisors. We provide AI enablement services to organizations. Revenue model is currently one-time projects and retainers, and switching to a product based platform soon. Ideal customer is a financial institution between $1B and $5B in assets. Development is entirely founder led. I'm getting stuck with discipline and buyer hesitancy. Claude should manage prospect lists and prep for discovery. No constraints.

I'm having a brief connection issue. Please try again in a moment.
